| COAL THIEF BEWARE | | |
|-------------------|--|--|

We don't want to complain, but the fellow who is stealing our coal is heaping "coals of fire" on our head. Aren't we having a hard enough time as it is, simply existing through the four years of the "lean democratic administration," says the Elko Free Press. Living in hopes that the people will resume the normal next fall and return the good old Republican party to power and with coal at its present price we just simply can't afford to buy for two establishments. So we want to give fair warning that our patience has reached the breaking point, and if our nocturnal visitor comes again we will give him a sort of vicious welcome.

MATTERS SUBMITTED IN MONTH ENDED

STATEMENT BY JUDGE AVERILL OF COURT BUSINESS IN FEBRUARY

At the end of each month, in compliance with law, Judge Mark R. Averill makes affidavit as to the matters coming before him during the month and their disposition. His sworn statement, filed yesterday afternoon, is as follows:

That he is the duly elected, qualified and acting judge of the fifth judicial and acting judge of the fifth judicial comprising the county of Nye; that two cases, motions or other matters submitted to him as such district judge in and for Nye county, remain undecided, viz.: a demurrer to the amended complaint in the case of Stanley vs. Decker, submitted Feb. 18, 1916, and a motion for a new trial in the case of Tanner vs. Bacon, submitted Feb. 21, 1916; that twenty-three other matters were submitted to him and decided during the month of February, 1916; that two matters heard in Goldfield remain undecided, three demurrers to the same effect in the case of Bartlett et al. vs. Weber, submitted Feb. 19, 1916, and the trial of the case of Williams vs. Wood Sullivan company, submitted Feb. 26, 1916; that no motion, case or other matter remains undecided that has been submitted for a period of ninety days.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR ANTIMONY PROPERTY

Now that spring is approaching, the Bonanza is in receipt of many inquiries regarding mining properties in this vicinity, particularly cinabar, tungsten and antimony holdings. The antimony property in Hot Creek district has been asked about by a number of people.

This is a group owned by George L. Dugan, Mrs. Ella McNamara and John Panola. Mr. Dugan stated to a Bonanza representative today that the property looks better than ever and that he expects to be able to bond it in the near future.

Recently leasers shipped about 75 tons of ore before their time expired and the ore brought around $150 a ton in Tonopah. The price of antimony now is higher than ever before and with the amount of ore in sight in the Hot Creek property it is certain to come to the front.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASE NOW ON TRIAL

THE DEFENDANT MAKES SERIOUS ALLEGATION AGAINST PROSECUTING WITNESS

Pete Conniff, who had been working in the Tonopah Extension mine, was recently discharged and yesterday morning he met John J. Murray, one of the shift bosses, in front of the Europa saloon on lower Main street. He struck him on the face with an upturned.

Conniff accused Murray of having taken money from him to get him the position and then firing him. Murray secured a warrant on the charge of assault and battery and the case is being tried today before Justice Dunsmuir, whose court room is crowded to suffocation. Murray denies the allegation that money was passed and says that it was a frame-up pure and simple, while the plaintiff testified that he did pay the money. The case was still on trial at a late hour this afternoon.

FRANK HAS LAGRIFFE, LIKEWISE APPETITE

Frank J. Cavanaugh has been confined to his home with la grippe. Last night a delegation from the B. P. O. E. went to Mr. Cavanaugh's home laden with papers, string, pots and pans. While the delegation looked on, Mr. Cavanaugh sat up in his bed with the pans "and things" in front of him holding a fork and spoon, eating the good things that were so thoughtfully sent to him.

MANLY ART TO BE SEEN AT GOLDFIELD

GOOD CARD TO BE PRESENTED ON THE EVENING OF MARCH 14

A number of four round bouts at Goldfield, March 14, that should create a lot of excitement amongst the fistful followers of both of the leading camps have been arranged by Gus Rainier, who is matchmaker for the Goldfield Athletic club. The card, which is undoubtedly the best ever offered to the fight fans of this region will bring together the best talent in southern Nevada.

Danny Mathews, the Goldfield whirlwind boxer, will meet Frank Harden of Lendville, Colo., in the main bout of the evening. Harden, who is now in Tonopah under the management of George Ross, has a record a mile long and looks to be a hard nut to crack.

Our old friend, Frick Lyden, will do a come back when he meets Speck Duffy of Goldfield on the same night. Frick is about as good a boxer as ever developed here and when properly trained, figures to beat most of the light weights. Speck, however, always tries his best and will make things quite interesting for Frick.

Blackie Myers will be another one of our boxers to fight a Goldfield boy when he hooks up with Red Howard who is a favorite of the Jumbo club. Myers won his last bout on a knock out last month and made a big hit with the gold camp's fans.

Charley Morris and Kid Burns will meet in a return bout. Their last battle was a corker. Two other bouts will be arranged today.

HUGH H. BROWN ON REPUBLICAN ISSUES

discussed in practically all the counties, and that the Republican voters were in favor of having the committee select the delegates and alternates, and thereby avoid the unnecessary expense of an election and state convention; and fifth, it was the plan and purpose of the state central committee to make the list of delegates and alternates fairly representative of the whole state. This plan was carried out. The twelve delegates and alternates represent nearly every county in the state.

"Mr. Brown further said: 'A decided feeling of optimism characterized the Reno meeting. Reports came from all over the state to the effect that the Republicans look for victory in November, both in the national contest and in the state contest.'

"The Nevada delegation goes unpolegized to the Chicago convention. It is our determination to select the best possible candidate a man whose political creed embodies the constructive, progressive and positive principles of Republicanism, and who will uphold the dignity and prestige of this country, abroad as well as at home.

"The war is today the all-engrossing public question. It subordinates other questions and issues. But the war will come to an end; and far-seeing Americans now realize that when the war does end, our country will be vexed by grave industrial complexities upon whose correct solution will depend the welfare of the whole country. The traditional issue between the two parties always has been, and still is, an economic issue. In 1888, in his great speech at the Polo grounds in New York, James G. Blaine established it as an historical fact that the revenue policy of the Democratic party recurrently and continually had been disastrous to the best interests of the country. What Blaine said twenty-seven years ago, has been true of every Democratic tariff measure that has been enacted since that date. Aside from questions of international complication, the industrial and economic issue is the most vital question now before the country.

"Sagacious analysts of business conditions constantly warn the people to be prepared for the industrial warfare which is certain to follow the restoration of peace, reminding them that when the last gun is fired on the battlefields of Europe the millions of men now under arms will return to the factory and the mine and the farm, and that unless that time finds this country prepared to meet the restoration of industrial competition there must follow a day of reckoning here which can spell nothing but disaster. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Wilson failed in his recent message to propose legislation on this subject suited to the needs of the hour. It is, therefore, obvious that when the abnormal industrial conditions of today end with the war we shall face a situation to which the ineptitude of Democratic statesmanship will be glaringly unequal.

"Every man of affairs knows that the bad conditions of the spring of 1914 would have been still worse but for the war and that there would probably have been a return to the industrial stagnation and widespread unemployment through which the country went under previous Democratic administrations. As it is, adventitious circumstances have furnished the president with hope of political salvation this year, but that hope was not buoyed by the results of the elections of last November. The Republicans carried Massachusetts on national issues despite the fact that a popular Democratic governor received 56,000 more votes than were cast for Mr. Wilson in 1912. We came within a few hundred votes of carrying the Democratic state of Kentucky. We elected the assembly in the state of New York by 7,000, carried Philadelphia by 90,000 and Cincinnati by a larger majority than ever before given to a candidate for mayor. In Maryland our candidate for governor received 116,136 votes, whereas Mr. Wilson in 1912 received 112,574. We carried the day in President Wilson's home state of New Jersey. In

OFFICERS LEAVE FOR SCENE OF REVOLUTION

(By Associated Press.)

PEKING, Mar. 1.—Lieutenant Commander C. T. Hutchins, Jr., U. S. N., naval attaché to the American legation, and Captain L. M. Little, U. S. M. C., language officer at the United States legation, left Peking today for Shanghai, on their way to Yunnan province by way of French Indo-China.

Captain Isaac Newell, U. S. A., military attaché of the American legation, also left today for the scene of the revolution, going by way of Hankow, where he expects to move up the Yangtze with government troops on their way to suppress the revolutionists who have now invaded Szechuan province from Yunnan province.

th 23rd congressional district in New York City, in an election fought on national questions, with the heaviest vote ever polled, and in a district which heretofore has always been Democratic, the Republican candidate, William S. Bennett, won by over 700. That election was devoid of even a crumb of comfort for the Democrats and it reflected a condition which is nation-wide.

"It is the consensus of Republican opinion that the record of the Wilson administration insures Republican victory this year. The president's conduct of affairs of government has been a keen disappointment even to men who supported him—and he received two million less than a majority of the votes cast.

"The Democratic party will receive widespread and grave censure for wanton, unprecedented and unmeasured extravagance, particularly in view of its solemn pledge in the platform of 1912 to retrench and bring about important reductions in the running expenses of the government.

"The passage of the Seamen's bill and the affirmative act of the president which made it law will receive very general censure when the full measure of the damage it has done shall have been disclosed. It has already paralyzed the Pacific shipping industry and will drive the American ships from the high seas when peace in Europe restores normal competition at the Atlantic.

"The country will see in 1916 one of the greatest campaigns in American political history. The Republican party realizes that it has a big fight on hand. It stands ready to make the fight. It is my settled conviction that the next president will be a Republican."

BUTLER THEATER

"The Scarlet Road," a George Kleine photo-drama, featuring Malcolm Duncan, Della Connor and Anna Q. Nilsson, will be the offering at the Butler this evening. A New Year's eve in a Broadway cabaret is a feature and a remarkable scene in "The Scarlet Road." It required the services of about five hundred persons for this "set," and the result is a faithful, accurate portrayal of what transpires at some of these palatial places on that particular night each year. The stylishly gowned women and correctly attired men are apparently having the "time of their life," at their festivities and a spectator can almost imagine hearing the pop of the champagne corks and strains of the music, so realistic is the picture. The story is powerful and fascinating, and considered by competent critics to be one of the most forceful plays ever produced in film, and one sure to arouse considerable discussion.

The preliminary reel will be a Pathe comedy. Tomorrow, Pathe Weekly, and Holbrook Blinn and Vivian Martin, in a five-part Shubert feature, "The Butterfly on the Wheel." Watch for the date on the big war picture to be announced soon.

IS THE WORLD GROWING BETTER OR WORSE?

This will be the subject for consideration at the Presbyterian church next Sunday night. The pastor will give the views of editors, business men, publishers, educational leaders, state officials and many others who have been consulted and have given their views upon this topic. The present condition of the world causes us to stop and think. Are we as a human race advancing or retreating? Are the "Forces of Righteousness" going down before the "Forces of Evil"? Or is it vice versa? Let us hear the opinion of men who have thought upon this, at the service next Sunday night.

ALLOTMENT OF FLOUR HAS BEEN REDUCED

(By Associated Press.)

VIENNA, Mar. 1.—According to a ministerial order, the amount of flour allotted to each person in country districts has been reduced from 400 to 300 grams weekly. The same order provides that persons who do not possess a home—for instance bachelors who live in hotels on pensions—and who therefore have no need of flour, are only entitled to bread and not to flour. No family may draw more than one kilogram (2.2047 pounds) of flour plus bread per person in the space of two weeks.
